

Celery

- CE75-02
- many of which differ from the wild species, mainly in having stouter leaf stems. This variety in good taste. Suitable to grow in open fields and greenhouse. It can be cultivation in Autumn or Spring.

Ann Tula

- Early maturity, 70-75 days after planting, plant height 80 cm, width 2-3 cm, petiole 8 pieces, light green, good gloss,
- the leaf margin is deep fissure, the plant is compact; Resistant to mosaic, strong resistance disease, high yield, good commodity.

RA75-01

- RA75-01
- Deep green stems and leaves are well flavored, popular in Chinese stir-fry and soup. This variety is often called Shanghai celery because it is very popular there. Plants grow best in mild climates during spring and fall.